Anti-Capital Punishment Statement

Apollo is committed to the development, manufacturing and distribution of generic and specialty injectable products to improve patient outcomes throughout the United States. As such Apollo strongly objects to any potential use of our products to conduct or support capital punishment through lethal injection or other means. To this end, Apollo will not sell any product directly to any known prison or correctional institution and has implemented appropriate distribution controls with our wholesale partners to restrict the sale of any products to facilities which are believed to be using them for lethal injection.
